New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843.
Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting the business has been to provide perfect security to all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium. The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured by her own hand beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President; B. P. STEVENS, Secy;

O. P. ROBINSON, Examining Physician.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon

Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five acres, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses unless your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stoves, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by LETTER.

FARMERS, look to your own interest, and insure in a

Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and have not been obliged to increase our premiums, notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843.

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest,

and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security to all who have insured with it, by the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give to their personal attention; and boards of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President; B. F. STURGES, Sec'y;

O. P. ROBINSON, Examining Physician.

CHIPS

CELEBRATED WORMWOOD CORDIAL.

THE subscriber in introducing this valuable temperance beverage, would respectfully call the attention of the public to the fact, that it is prepared from green Wormwood, an herb that grows luxuriantly in the New England States, the medicinal qualities of which, for the regulation of the stomach and blood, cannot be equalled by anything ever used.

It is a sure cure and preventive of Fever, Ague, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, and all diseases arising from impurities of the blood or irritation of the stomach. Try it.

Sold wholesale and retail by

From Blackwood.
THE EMPRESS OF RUSSIA.

In the little town of Marienburg lived a Lutheran minister by the name of Skovronski, who was remarkable for his piety, benevolence, and unwearying efforts in doing good. On returning to his humble dwelling one evening, his attention was attracted by the cries of a child. His house showed an unwillingness to proceed; he dismounted, and at a short distance on the snow he discovered the object of distress. There lay a half-frozen child. Wrapping it in his cloak, he remounted his horse, and in a short time was at the parsonage.

That child was a beautiful little girl, not a year old. It was at once adopted by the pastor and placed in the care of his faithful servant, an old lady, who had long resided in the family. She was named Catherine, from the circumstance that she was found on St. Catherine's day, the twenty-first of November. She was nursed with great care and tenderness, and treated by the family as an only child. Her beauty, docility and sweet temper attracted the attention of all who saw her. A more lovely little creature could hardly be imagined.

As she grew up she interested herself in the management of the household affairs, and was always ready to assist as occasion required. The venerable Skovronski was growing old, and, under his excessive labors for the good of his flock, his naturally robust constitution was evidently giving way. This deeply affected Catherine, for she loved the good old man as her best earthly friend. She respected him as a parent; for she could never forget that it was he who saved her life. When he became ill, she would do all for him in her power, and often cheered his lonely hours by singing some beautiful hymns. She would often say, "my dear father, what can I do for you? Can I not render you some assistance? Can I do too much for one who saved my life?"

On the twentieth of August, 1702, Marienburg was taken by the Russians, and many of its inhabitants slain. It was a sad day. Many heart-rending scenes were witnessed. Catherine at this time was thirteen years of age, and at the time of the battle was visiting the sister of Skovronski, a few miles distant. She heard the cannon, but did not understand the cause. This part of our story must be described by another. Though a slight thread of fiction may be seen in the description, it will give a life-like air to the facts presented.

A horse suddenly stopped at the door of the cottage, and a young man hastily dismounted. "The Russians are at Marienburg!" exclaimed he, rushing into the apartment. "I have escaped with difficulty to bring this letter from your brother, (addressing the pastor's sister) who has given his horse for my use."

"Do tell me what has occurred at Marienburg," said Catherine.

"Why, do you not hear the cannon? General Scheremetief with the army is bombarding Marienburg. O, it is a cruel sight to behold."

"My father, my benefactor!" cried Catherine, sobbing.

Such was her anxiety to see her best earthly friend that she immediately started for Marienburg; but on reaching the town she was met by one of the guard, with "where are you going?" "What is that to you?" replied the young girl. "I am in haste, and pray you let me pass."

"You, of course, are not aware, then, that the town is in the hands of the Russians," said the man.

"Well, what then," interrupted Catherine. "That all the inhabitants are prisoners; and if you pursue your route, you will also be taken prisoner yourself."

"Thank you for your advice; but my father and benefactor is in town, and I am determined to share his fate whatever it may be."

"Go, then, and God preserve you!" answered the man.

She had not proceeded far before an officer demanded her name.

"Catherine," she quickly replied; "I am the adopted child of the pastor Skovronski."

"Thou art a Livonian," replied the officer.

"Livonia belongs now to our Czar, Peter I. of Russia; you are, therefore, a prisoner."

"Touch me not," said Catherine, her beautiful dark eye flashing. "I returned to Marienburg to find my adopted father. Conduct me, then, to him—in his house—in a dungeon—no matter where—so that I may find him."

As the officer did not seem disposed to consent with her request, she inquired, "Who is your general?"

"General Scheremetief," was the reply.

"I wish then to speak to the general."

In a few moments, as the Cossack officer was inquiring where the general could be found, an old woman perceiving her, uttered a cry of despair. "O, my dear child, you will see your protector no more! He died on the battle-field by a Russian bullet, while in the act of binding up the wounds of a poor soldier. He is dead—my poor master!" This old lady was the servant of Skovronski.

Catherine turned pale at this sad intelligence, and inquired, "Have you, then, left him there without help?"

The officer bade her follow him, and he soon introduced her into the general's tent. She threw herself at Scheremetief's feet, and with her uplifted hands exclaimed, "A grace, general! for pity's sake, a grace!"

"What does the child want?" inquired the general of the officer.

"She wishes to speak to you."

"It is true," replied Catherine. "I have learned that my father and protector is among the dead. Dear pastor Skovronski! The favor I ask of you is, to be allowed to seek for his body, that it may be properly buried."

The tone of her voice was so peculiar, and her countenance so commanding, yet so ingenuous, that the general was moved at the sight of her youth and courage, and said, "The camp is situated outside of the walls; if I grant your request, what guarantee shall I have that you will not try to escape?"

"My word!" replied Catherine, innocently.

"Go then," said the general; "but remember your promise to return, for you belong to me." On leaving the tent she soon met the pastor's old servant. "Come," said she, taking her hand, "show me the place where you saw him fall."

The night was dark, and it was with difficulty they could see their way. They soon came upon a field covered with the bodies of the slain, while the cries that arose, told that many were still alive. It was, indeed, a scene of horror. It was dark, and how could she distinguish her benefactor? Soon a soldier appeared with a lantern, which he kindly offered her, but advising her to discontinue her search till morning. This she at once declined.

"But," said the brave soldier, "you are not formed to be a slave, though a general may be your master. You are now beyond the camp; no person can see you. Fly! If you want money, here it is."

"Fly! when I have given my word not to do so."

The word of a girl without a name, without birth, is of little consequence. I conjure you to fly."

Catherine remained unmoved, and resolved to fulfill her promise. The search for the pastor was continued, and in a few moments he was found, nearly senseless and quite speechless. After several attempts he faintly whispered, "Where am I?"

"With your friends," replied Catherine—"with your little Catherine."

A little cordial being administered, he revived, and was soon carried home on a litter. His wounds were dressed, and all possible assistance rendered to the wounded pastor. Catherine was overjoyed to see her dearest friend so comfortable.

The old man had learned that his dear child was a prisoner, and this grieved him much.

"It is all right," said Catherine. "If I had not been taken a prisoner, I should not have been carried before the general, and would have missed seeing your servant, who told me of your death; and had I not seen her, I should never have thought of seeking for you on the battle-field."

"Now," said Catherine, "my dear benefactor bless me, you poor child, for I must leave you."

"Go, my child, go," said the old man in a solemn voice; "do your duty, and God will bless you."

Catherine kissed the lips of the old man, and exclaimed, "Adieu, my father! adieu!" and left the house.

As she entered the tent of the general, she met the young soldier who presented her with the lantern in the battle-field, and who now kindly presented her to the general.

"What! have you returned," said the general on seeing her. "I feared that I should not see you again."

"I gave you my word," was her brief reply.

"What shall I do with her?" inquired the General, addressing himself to the soldier.

"Make her my wife—the wife of a soldier!"—She is born for it! Well, what say you, my child?" added he, turning to Catherine, who seemed quite bewildered.

"I say," replied she, hesitating, "my choice is not difficult; I would rather be the wife of a soldier than the slave of a general."

"Bravo! Catherine! from this moment you belong to me."

The soldier arose, and beckoning to Catherine to follow him, he left the tent. "Do you know who I am, Catherine?" said he, as they walked away together.

"No; but you said that you wished to be my husband."

"True; but do you know my rank in the army?"

"It matters not," said Catherine; "you cannot suppose I am proud—a child without family, without name."

"You are content, then, to link your destiny with mine," taking her by the hand.

"Yes," replied Catherine, "I like you because you have been kind to me, poor child that I am."

The soldier stopped before a tent more elevated than the rest. "This is the tent of the Czar," said he; "remain where you are. It is right that I should ask his permission to marry you."

Catherine waited but a few minutes, when a young officer, advancing, said, "The Czar wishes to see you."

On entering the tent, she saw a large number of officers, in the center of whom she immediately recognized the young soldier, her companion. "Where is the Czar?" inquired Catherine of the officer.

"There!" said he, pointing to the soldier who was seated.

"He is that is my husband."

"There? that is my husband?" Catherine, said the emperor of Russia. "How astonished you appear! Does the news grieve you? Does my title prevent you from loving me?"

"I love you as a soldier," said she; "I will also love you as an emperor." The Czar arose, and taking the hand of the young orphan, presented her to his officers as the future empress of Russia.

Here closes the thread of fiction in our story. After their marriage, the emperor placed her in a private dwelling in the city of Moscow, where she received every attention becoming her position. She was lovely and beautiful—She loved to do good and make others happy around her. She was intelligent, cheerful, amiable, and benevolent. "No doubt Peter the Great saw that she was precisely the woman who could share his enthusiasm and sympathize in his plans. The obscurity of her birth was no obstacle to him; he had absolute power to raise her to the loftiest condition in his empire."

Though surrounded with the honors of royalty, she did not forget the pastor of Marienburg. She loved him still, and did what she could to cheer his last hours. He never recovered from his wounds, and survived but a short time. His end was peace. Catherine mourned over his departure, and sighed that one she had loved most of all on earth was now no more.

She often accompanied the emperor in his journeys through his empire, and frequently attended him in military campaigns. In 1714, when Peter was at war with the Turks, by her extraordinary skill and superior judgment, she saved the life of the emperor, and saved the army from being destroyed or taken prisoners. Peter caused the event to be commemorated by a display of magnificence unusual for him; and in the declaration he issued we find these words: "She has been of the greatest assistance to us in all our dangers, and particularly in the battle of Pruth."

She was blessed with two children, one of which—a son—died when a child. The other—a daughter—became empress of Russia.

On the eighteenth of May, 1723, Peter the Great placed the crown, with great pomp, upon the head of Catherine. His health was now rapidly declining. Catherine attended him constantly. January 28, 1725, he breathed his last, being only in his forty-fourth year.

Catherine sustained the title of empress with great dignity, and was greatly beloved by her subjects. Her reign was short. She survived her husband about two years, and expired May 27, 1727, at the age of thirty-eight.

AWFUL ACCIDENT!—A green chop recently from Boston, in jumping from the pier on to the steamer Arctic, as she was leaving the dock, did not jump far enough and landed safely in the water. He had just been ashore and bought his pockets full of gingerbread, and his hands full of apples. As he went down beautifully into the cold drink, he held up his two hands, each containing an apple. These he was determined not to lose or get them wet if he could help it, as he had before his eyes the loss of all the gingerbread in his pockets. A more ludicrous sight could hardly be imagined, to see the poor penniless yankee holding on to his apples for dear life, while the very act of raising his hands to save them, imperiled his own existence. Such a fellow was not born to be drowned and was drawn aboard the boat, with both apples saved.—Racine Advocate.

MAINE ELECTION.—We have a brief despatch from Maine this morning—just enough to show that the Nebraska confusion has wrought its legitimate results there as elsewhere. We would not stand in the shoes of those who have betrayed the democratic party and broken its ascendancy, for all the honors that a dozen presidents could confer.—Chicago Press, (den.)

JANESVILLE: : : WISCONSIN.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 19, 1854.

FOR CONGRESS—SECOND DISTRICT.

C. O. WASHBURN.

ROCK COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The electors of Rock county who are determined to support no man for office who is not positively and fully committed to the support of the principles announced in the "Republican Platform" adopted at Madison on the 13th of July last, and whose personal character, political associations and private conduct, do not afford a guarantee that he is reliable, are invited to meet in their respective townships or wards at the place of holding the last township or ward election, on Tuesday, 10th day of October next, at 9 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing a thorough organization of the Republican party in their towns or wards, and of appointing delegates to a county convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY, the 13th day of October next, at 9 o'clock P. M., to nominate a county ticket.

The towns and wards will be entitled to representation in the county convention as follows:—to wit:

L. P. HARVEY, J. H. BRID, J. H. COLLET, G. H. WILSON, A. HARRIS, PETER SCHMITZ, J. DAWSON, E. VICKROY, County Committee.

17th SENATORIAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

At the same time and place above designated in the respective towns and wards for meetings, to choose delegates to the county convention, the Republican electors of the wards of the city of Janesville, and of the towns in this county comprised in the 17th senatorial district, are requested to select an equal number of delegates to which they are entitled under the above appointment in the county convention, to represent them in a senatorial convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY the 12th day of October next at 11 o'clock, A. M., to nominate a candidate for senator.

By order of the County Committee.

For telegraphic news see third page.

MORE HARMONY.—The loco focus of Mr. Washburne's district, Illinois, met in convention at Rockford, last Wednesday, to nominate a candidate for congress. After getting together, they done more than the bills promised or the party called for, as they nominated two candidates, Wm. M. Jackson, a former government officer in Chicago, on a Nebraska platform, and E. P. Perry of Lake county, on an anti-Nebraska foundation. The office holders in the convention stole a march in the organization, and the chairman declared Nebraska resolutions carried, whereupon the Lake, Boone and Winnebago delegates withdrew, and went in on their own hook. The times are getting really interesting.

One of the results of the Maine election is the defeat of Mr. Farley, a whig member of congress, who voted against the Nebraska bill, but refused to abandon the whig organization and accept a nomination as a republican. His republican opponent, Mr. Knowlton, was elected.

The know-nothings have elected representatives in several counties, and are reported to have voted generally for Morrill for governor, and anti-Nebraska members of congress.

THE BAILEY TROUPE.—Most of our citizens will remember the entertainment given by this troupe some two years or so ago. They visit the city again this week, and give another exhibition, having substituted for the vulgarity and buffoonery of "Jonny Booker," the performance of some light farce calculated to give variety and interest to their performance. See the advertisement.

Joseph R. Chandler has been nominated as an independent whig candidate for congress in the 2d district in Pennsylvania. Mr. Chandler is now a member of the house of representatives, but recently connected himself with the Roman Catholic church, and thus became obnoxious to the know nothing organization.—It is said that the whole strength of this organization will now be thrown against him.

How HE DID IT.—Our readers will recollect the paragraph from the Albany Journal giving an account of a boy while on trial for stealing counterfeiting an attack of cholera, and thus procuring his discharge. The Register gives his mode of operation. To produce coldness and numbness in his arms, the little villain thumped his elbows against the walls of his room in the jail, and deadly sickness was caused swallowing tobacco juice freely! Thus, with by counterfeited spasms, well got up groans and a liberal rolling of the eyes, he cheated all hands into the belief that he was a gone case of cholera.

Attention is directed to a statement of the affairs and condition of the Home Insurance company, in another column. It is a favorable exhibit and tells well for the responsibility of the company.

SCARCITY OF POTATOES.—The Newark Daily Advertiser states that there are dealers purchasing potatoes in the back country from the farmers at ten shillings per bushel, and allowing them to remain in the cellars of the farmers—bringing them there for retail as they are wanted. So high is the price of potatoes, (from $3 to $4 per bushel) and the prospect of a heavy crop so poor, that (the Advertiser adds) the anticipated profits warrant such operations.

MERCHANDISE FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Cleveland at Milwaukee, 16th, to R. J. Richardson, Ecstom & Bro., V. Jouancault; by propeller Baltic, to R. J. Richardson.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE GAZETTE:—In your account of the proceedings of the Mineral Point democratic congressional convention, credited to the Madison Argus, my name is found in favor of laying the resolution of Mr. Woodie, repudiating the administration of Franklin Pierce, &c., upon the table.

The fact is, that I voted against laying the resolution on the table.

The name of Mr. Woodie does not appear on this. He voted against the motion.

The name of Mr. Stevens, of Green county, is given, also, as in favor of the motion, and that of Mr. Wriesburg, of Green county, against the motion. These gentlemen had left the convention before the resolution was offered.

Yours, &c., J. J. R. PEASE.

Since publishing the report in question, we learn there are several other inaccuracies than those corrected by Mr. Pease. The errors, however, are not ours, as we copied from the record correctly. The official report seems to have been very carelessly or ignorantly made up, and when we find an authentic corrected statement we will publish it. On the passage of the resolutions of the convention, (the platform), the vote of the delegation from this county should have been, Messrs. Gardner, Worden, Jordan, in the affirmative, and Messrs. Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong and Woodie in the negative.

We give the full vote as furnished by one of the delegates from this city, according to his recollection of it:

Ayes—Billings, Boyden, Lean, N. Dewey, W. P. Dewey, Worden, Allen (3), Rodolph, Ladue, Kyle, Rose, Parkinson, Dean, Fairchild, Sweet, Brawley (2), Gardner, Jordan, Bugh, Brown, McLaughlin (2), Telfair—26.

Noes—Clinton, Zollinger, Rountree, Penn, Ogden, Beardsley, Firmen, Stevens (2), Wriesburg, Tompson, Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong, Woodie, Eddy—16.

FREE LECTURE.—Dr. S. C. Pratt gives a free lecture this evening at Apollo Hall upon the anatomy, physiology and diseases of the human eye. The subject may be made interesting to all, and useful to those whose sight has from any cause been impaired, besides affording the opportunity to judge in some degree the ability of Dr. P. to treat the diseases to which that part of the human organization is liable.

The Jeffersonian, published in Jefferson county, repudiates Mr. Hood as judge of the 9th circuit. It had previously declared in his favor, but on seeing the charges made against him by the Madison Argus, sustained by extracts from the records of courts in Ohio, and affidavits of responsible men, withdrew from his support.

The Michigan democratic state convention nominated John Barry for governor, W. A. Richmond lieutenant governor, W. L. Bancroft secretary of state.

The republican convention for the northern district of this state was held in Fond du Lac, last Saturday.

John F. Brady, a well known lawyer in New York city, was recently assaulted by some rowdies in the 6th ward, and so severely bruised that he died.

IOWA LEGISLATURE.—We had by Saturday's mail several of the Dubuque papers, each classifying the members elect to the Iowa legislature. All agree in representing the house to consist of 40 anti-Nebraska and 30 Nebraska members, but disagree as to the senate, each side claiming a majority of one. Probably the question will not be decided until the meeting of the two bodies, when the voting will afford the best solution.

THE GREYTOWN AFFAIR.—The National Intelligencer says: "We are more pained than surprised at the strong language of censure employed by the European press and the universal condemnation evinced by the European public towards the bombardment and burning of Greytown. The public disapproval of that unfortunate act was almost as general in our own country as it is in Europe, and we should do injustice to the American government if we doubted that it as sincerely regrets the occurrence as do any of our citizens."

THE MAST.—It is an extraordinary fact, that though the dry character of the season has cut off the late crops, there is a most astonishing mast. The oak trees are loaded with acorns, and some of them are told will yield ten bushels. These acorns, we are informed by those who ought to know, that, for the purpose of fattening hogs they are nearly equal to corn; particularly is this the case with the acorns from the white oak. Where our farmers live in the neighborhood of forests they will be able to make nearly their usual quantity of pork, especially if they have sufficient corn to feed their hogs a few weeks.

Mast feed pork is not, however, in as high esteem as that which is corn fed; but a good deal of the former will be brought to market the coming fall.—Springfield Journal.

HOTEL.—Another new hotel, to be called the "La Flamboise House," is soon to be built at Chicago, at a cost of $50,000. It will be 7 stories high, and will contain 1000 sleeping apartments. The base and the first story are to be of beautiful white stone from Athens, and the upper stories will be faced with Milwaukee brick, or covered with mastic. The second story will be furnished with bath rooms, for the accommodation of the guests.

DOUGLAS AT CHICAGO.—The St. Louis Intelligencer gives Mr. Douglas cold comfort for his reception at Chicago. It says: "On the whole, we are not disposed to blame Chicago for her conduct at this meeting.—Douglas has betrayed her; he came to ask her how she liked it. She has given him his answer loud enough. She did not whisper it, lest persons at a distance, seeing the confident air with which he approached her to put his question, and which he maintained to the last, should believe those who would represent it other than it was. Not to let Mr. Douglas speak on that occasion was a mercy. He did not want to speak. Every one knows that Mr. Douglas had nothing to say to Chicago, but what he had said before, and what she was not pleased to hear."

Capital and accumulation, $350,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. Its primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security for its policyholders, and to return to them the largest surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessment beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give their personal attention, and bonds of sufficient security are given by the officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of their debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST.

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in stacks, live stock, etc., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses unless your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, barns, mills, shops and such like property. In such cases, if such property is rejected positively, by letting them insure elsewhere.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last twelve months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

GRAIN ENLARGEMENT AT THE ORIGINAL

One Price Cash Store! COOLEY & BABCOCK,

WEST SIDE THE RIVER, JANESVILLE.

ARE Gratified to announce to the Trading Public that they have made extensive alterations and improvements in the Establishment, and are prepared to sell, with great convenience to customers, and at PRICES UNEQUALLED IN WISCONSIN for

Cheapness and Perfect Uniformity,

A Stock of Goods undoubtedly surpassing in Variety, Extent, and Real Value, any other in Janesville; containing

Staple & Fancy DRY GOODS

CLOTHES of all qualities, some of superior fabric probably in any other in town, and at very low prices.

DRESS GOODS and Dress Trimmings, EMBROIDERIES in great variety & of rich patterns, PARASOLS, Gimpure Laces, DRESSY, Fancy and Dotted Muslins, GLOVES, Hosiery, &c., &c., much below the usual asking or selling prices.

Our stock of

is universally admitted by Importers as entirely superior to all other makes in durability, enamel and beauty of shape, which, however, they will sell at less prices than inferior wares can be afforded in this State.

GLASS WARE in endless variety purchased directly from factories.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH PORCELAIN, VASES, Gilded and Decorated China Cups.

SOLAR LAMPS, CAMPFIRE and FLUID Lamps. PAPER HANGINGS.—Please Examine them. WINDOW SHADES.—New Designs very cheap. Patent and Brass Curtain Trimmings, &c.

The Subscribers have also just arranged a spacious basement on the 2d Floor in which they are now receiving incomparably the largest assortment of ever seen in Central Wisconsin. Please look at them. Also, OIL CLOTHS, from 5 to 8 quarts inclusive. MATTINGS.—Plain and Checked, Dressing, Gilded and Decorated China Cups.

LOOKING GLASSES of every size and style, in fact, a full line of goods in price and reflection.

They also keep for sale at lowest Cash prices a full assortment of GROCERIES, LEATHER AND FINDINGS, BOOTS AND SHOES, SADDLERY, Tin Ware, House Furnishings, &c., &c.

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.

The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate big game and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.

Respectfully, COOLEY & BABCOCK, Janesville, June 24th, 1884. 43

JANESVILLE CLOTHING EMPORIUM.

WM. ADDY, Merchant Tailor, & Dealer in Ready Made Clothing and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.

HAS received his Spring and Summer STOCK, consisting of the very best and fashionable CLOTHS, CASIMERS, DOBBERIES AND VESTINGS of English, French and American manufacture.

This establishment is now, as usual, the favorite place of resort for the fashionable, the Cutting Department still being under my own personal supervision, and warranted to suit the most difficult, twenty per cent lower than any other establishment in the State.

No Fit, No Sale, is my doctrine. You will ask how I can do this; I will tell you: From my long experience in this business, and being a practical Tailor, I know when, where and how to buy my Goods, what to pay for them, and how to cut them, not having to secure the services of an eminent artist, at a salary of $1,000 to $1,500 a year, which the purchaser must pay for—this is the secret. I have got on hand a good assortment of Ready Made Clothing, of my own manufacture, and warranted in every respect. Call and examine, before you buy elsewhere.

TERMS CASH. Store three doors south of McKee's new Store, Main Street. WM. ADDY, Janesville, June 20, 1884. 43ft

GREAT SALE OF REAL ESTATE!

Rare Chance for Investment!

600 Village Lots!

THE undersigned offers at private sale SIX HUNDRED VILLAGE LOTS, situated in "Hickory Glen" and "Piney & Shaw" addition to Janesville, and located in the immediate vicinity of the Milwaukee and Mississippi railroad depot, in the city of Janesville.

The above property is but a short distance from the present business center of the thriving city of Janesville, and towards which, through the influence of the various railroads in operation and projected, the business of the city is fast finding its way.

It is unnecessary to speak of the peculiar advantages of an investment in a property so centrally located in the largest inland city in the State of Wisconsin—a city so widely known for its thrift and business prosperity, possessing extensive water-power and surrounded by the best farming country in the world—as every one at all conversant with the progress of western cities will see at once these advantages.

The above property is offered at very low rates, and on the most favorable terms, particularly to those who wish to make immediate improvements on purchases.

Also, 1,000 Acres of the Best Improved Farming Lands, situated within a few miles of the city, which will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, from 40 to 320 acres.

For particulars enquire of the undersigned at "Pixley & Kimball's Hardware Store," or of Thomas Shaw, Esq., at the residence of J. B. PIXLEY, Janesville, July 10, 1884. B. F. PIXLEY, dtf

Something New!!
MR. CHARLES AUSTIN, the celebrated Reed maker has just completed his new and improved Reed. He has labored for the last five years and expended more than six thousand dollars. This reed is different from all others in its composition, being much larger and having more power and tone than any other. It is made of the finest material and is manufactured by Messrs. Austin & Co. These Organs have an upright (Organ) action and are of the shape of a Church Organ. The price will range from $175 to $300, depending upon the finish of the case. To estimate the value of an instrument of this value, we would say that they have more power than any common Organ costing $500.
J. F. Pease & Co., Janesville Wis., are interested in these organs and have a number of these instruments, and are the only person through whom they can be had. They will have one or more for exhibition as early as Sept. 10, and after that a good assortment as soon as they can be manufactured.
Rev. T. J. PEASE & Co., Janesville, Wis.
CHAS. AUSTIN, Concord, N. H.

J. F. PEASE
Will commence his next term of instruction upon the Piano Forte, and in Vocal Music on Wednesday Sept. 13th. Pupils under his tuition may be assured that no pains will be spared to secure their rapid and thorough advancement in the art.
Good boarding places will be provided for pupils from abroad. Opportunity for practice upon good pianos, for those who wish. Apply at Pease's Music Rooms

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security to its policyholders under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessment beyond his premium. The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties. Insurance may be effected for the benefit of a wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.
THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST.
THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, including barns, houses, and outbuildings, in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies. All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected summarily, by LEWIS TRACY ALDEN.

Persons desiring to take their own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.
We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar lost, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

In the little town of Marienburg lived a Lutheran minister by the name of Skovronski, who was remarkable for his piety, benevolence, and unwearying efforts in doing good. On returning to his humble dwelling one evening, his attention was attracted by the cries of a child. His horse showed an unwillingness to proceed; he dismounted, and at a short distance on the snow he discovered the object of distress. There lay a half-frozen child. Wrapping it in his cloak, he remounted his horse, and in a short time was at the parsonage.

That child was a beautiful little girl, not a year old. It was at once adopted by the pastor and placed in the care of his faithful servant, an old lady, who had long resided in the family. She was named Catherine, from the circumstance that she was found on St. Catherine's day, the twenty-fifth of November. She was nursed with great care and tenderness, and treated by the family as an only child. Her beauty, docility and sweet temper attracted the attention of all who saw her. A more lovely little creature could hardly be imagined.

As she grew up she interested herself in the management of the household affairs, and was always ready to assist on occasion required. The venerable Skovronski was growing old, and under his excessive labors for the good of his flock, his naturally robust constitution was evidently giving way. This deeply affected Catherine, for she loved the good old man as her best earthly friend. She respected him as a parent; for she could never forget that it was he who saved her life. When he became ill, she would do all for him in her power, and often cheered his lonely hours by singing some beautiful hymns. She would often say, "my dear father, what can I do for you? Can I not render you some assistance?" Can I do too much for one who saved my life?

On the twentieth of August, 1702, Marienburg was taken by the Russians, and many of its inhabitants slain. It was a sad day. Many heart-rending scenes were witnessed. Catherine at this time was thirteen years of age, and at the time of the battle was visiting the sister of Skovronski, a few miles distant. She heard the cannon, but did not understand the cause. This part of our story must be described by another. Though a slight thread of fiction may be seen in the description, it will give a life like air to the facts presented.

A horse suddenly stopped at the door of the cottage, and a young man hastily dismounted. "The Russians are at Marienburg!" exclaimed he, rushing into the apartment. "I have escaped with difficulty to bring this letter from your brother, (addressing the pastor's sister) who has given his horse for my use."

"Do tell me what has occurred at Marienburg," said Catherine.

"Why, do you not hear the cannon? General Scheremetof with the army is bombarding Marienburg. O, it is a cruel sight to behold."

"My father, my benefactor!" cried Catherine, sobbing.

Such was her anxiety to see her best earthly friend that she immediately started for Marienburg; but on reaching the town she was met by one of the guard, with "where are you going?"

"What is that to you?" replied the young girl. "I am in haste, and pray you let me pass."

"You, of course, are not aware, then, that the town is in the hands of the Russians," said the man.

"Well, what then," interrupted Catherine.

"That all the inhabitants are prisoners; and if you pursue your route, you will also be taken prisoner yourself."

"Thank you for your advice; but my father and benefactor is in town, and I am determined to share his fate whatever it may be."

"Go, then, and God preserve you!" answered the man.

She had not proceeded far before an officer demanded her name.

"Catherine," she quickly replied; "I am the adopted child of the pastor Skovronski."

"Thou art a Livonian," replied the officer.—"Livonia belongs now to our Czar, Peter I. of Russia; you are, therefore, a prisoner."

"Touch me not," said Catherine, her beautiful dark eye flashing. "I returned to Marienburg to find my adopted father. Conduct me, then, to him—in his house—in a dungeon—no matter where—so that I may find him."

As the officer did not seem disposed to consent to her request, she inquired, "Who is your general?"

"General Scheremetof," was the reply.

"I wish then to speak to the general."

In a few moments, as the Cossack officer was inquiring where the general could be found, an old woman perceiving her, uttered a cry of despair.

"O, my dear child, you will see your protector no more! He died on the battle-field by a Russian bullet, while in the act of binding up the wounds of a poor soldier. He is dead—my poor master!" This old lady was the servant of Skovronski.

Catherine turned pale at this sad intelligence, and inquired, "Have you, then, left him there without help?"

The officer bade her follow him, and he soon introduced her into the general's tent. She threw herself at Scheremetof's feet, and with uplifted hands exclaimed, "A grace, general! for pity's sake, a grace!"

"What does the child want?" inquired the general of the officer.

"She wishes to speak to you."

"It is true," replied Catherine. "I have learned that my father and protector is among the dead. Dear pastor Skovronski! The favor I ask of you is, to be allowed to seek for his body, that it may be properly buried."

The tone of her voice was so peculiar, and her countenance so commanding, yet so ingenuous, that the general was moved at the sight of her youth and courage, and said, "The camp is situated outside of the walls; if I grant your request, what guarantee shall I have that you will not try to escape?"

"My word!" replied Catherine, innocently.

"Go then," said the general; "but remember your promise to return, for you belong to me."

On leaving the tent she soon met the pastor's old servant. "Come," said she, taking her hand, "show me the place where you saw him fall."

The night was dark, and it was with difficulty they could see their way. They soon came upon a field covered with the bodies of the slain, while the cries that arose, told that many were still alive. It was, indeed, a scene of horror. It was dark, and how could she distinguish her benefactor? Soon a soldier appeared with a lantern, which he kindly offered her, but advising her to discontinue her search till morning. This she at once declined.

"But," said the brave soldier, "you are not formed to be a slave, though a general may be your master. You are now beyond the camp; no person can see you. Fly! if you want money, here it is."

"Fly! when I have given my word not to do so."

The word of a girl without a name, without birth, is of little consequence. I conjure you to fly."

Catherine remained unmoved, and resolved to fulfill her promise. "The search for the pastor was continued, and in a few moments he was found, nearly senseless and quite speechless. After several attempts he faintly whispered, "Where am I?"

"With your friends," replied Catherine—"with your little Catherine."

A little cordial being administered, he revived, and was soon carried home on a litter. His wounds were dressed, and all possible assistance rendered to the wounded pastor. Catherine was overjoyed to see her dearest friend so comfortable.

The old man had learned that his dear child was a prisoner, and this grieved him much.

"It is all right," said Catherine. "If I had not been taken a prisoner, I should not have been carried before the general, and would have missed seeing your servant, who told me of your death; and, had I not seen her, I should never have thought of seeking for you on the battle-field."

"Now," said Catherine, "my dear benefactor bless me, your poor child, for I must leave you."

"Go, my child, go," said the old man in a solemn voice; "do your duty, and God will bless you."

Catherine kissed the lips of the old man, and exclaimed, "Adieu, my father! adieu!" and left the house.

As she entered the tent of the general, she met the young soldier who presented her with the lantern in the battle-field, and who now kindly presented her to the general.

"What! have you returned," said the general on seeing her. "I feared that I should not see you again."

"I gave you my word," was her brief reply.

"What shall I do with her?" inquired the General, addressing himself to the soldier.

"Make her my wife—the wife of a soldier!"—She is born for it! Well, what say you, my child?" added he, turning to Catherine, who seemed quite bewildered.

"I say," replied she, hesitating, "my choice is not difficult; I would rather be the wife of a soldier than the slave of a general."

"Bravest Catherine! from this moment you belong to me."

The soldier arose, and beckoning to Catherine to follow him, he left the tent. "Do you know who I am, Catherine?" said he, as they walked away together.

"No; but do you said that you wished to be my husband?"

"True; but do you know my rank in the army?"

"It matters not," said Catherine; "you cannot suppose I am proud—a child without family, without name."

"You are content, then, to link your destiny with mine," taking her by the hand.

"Yes," replied Catherine, "I like you because you have been kind to me, poor child that I am."

The soldier stopped before a tent more elevated than the rest. "This is the tent of the Czar," said he; "remain where you are. It is right that I should ask your permission to marry you."

Catherine waited but a few minutes, when a young officer, advancing, said, "the Czar wishes to see you."

On entering the tent, she saw a large number of officers, in the center of whom she immediately recognized the young soldier, her companion. "Where is the Czar?" inquired Catherine of the officer.

"There!" said he, pointing to the soldier who was seated.

"There? that is my husband!"

"He is thy husband and the Czar likewise, Catherine," said the emperor of Russia. "How astonished you appear! Does the news grieve you? Does my title prevent you from loving me?"

"I love you as a soldier," said she; "I will also love you as an emperor." The Czar arose, and taking the hand of the young orphan, presented her to his officers as the future empress of Russia.

Here closes the thread of fiction in our story. After their marriage, the emperor placed her in a private dwelling in the city of Moscow, where she received every attention becoming her position. She was lovely and beautiful.—She loved to do good and make others happy around her. She was intelligent, cheerful, amiable, and benevolent. "No doubt Peter the Great saw that she was precisely the woman who could share his enthusiasm and sympathize in his plans. The obscurity of her birth was no obstacle to him; he had absolute power to raise her to the loftiest condition in his empire."

Though surrounded with the honors of royalty, she did not forget the pastor of Marienburg. She loved him still, and did what she could to cheer his last hours. He never recovered from his wounds, and survived but a short time. His end was peace. Catherine mourned over his departure, and sighed that one she had loved most of all on earth was now no more.

She often accompanied the emperor in his journeys through his empire, and frequently attended him in military campaigns. In 1714, when Peter was at war with the Turks, by her extraordinary skill and superior judgment, she saved the life of the emperor, and saved the army from being destroyed or taken prisoners. Peter caused the event to be commemorated by a display of magnificence unusual for him; and in the declaration he issued we find these words: "She has been of the greatest assistance to us in all our dangers, and particularly in the battle of Pruthi."

She was blessed with two children, one of which—a son—died when a child. The other—a daughter—became empress of Russia.

On the eighteenth of May, 1723, Peter the Great placed the crown, with great pomp, upon the head of Catherine. His health was now rapidly declining. Catherine attended him constantly. January 23, 1725, he breathed his last, being only in his forty-fourth year.

Catherine sustained the title of empress with great dignity, and was greatly beloved by her subjects. Her reign was short. She survived her husband about two years, and expired May 27, 1727, at the age of thirty-eight.

AWFUL ACCIDENT!—A green chip recently from Boston, in jumping from the pier on to the steamer Arctic, as she was leaving the dock, did not jump far enough and landed safely in the water. He had just been ashore and bought his pockets full of gingerbread, and his hands full of apples. As he went down beautifully into the cold drink, he held up his two hands, each containing an apple. These he was determined not to lose or get them wet if he could help it, as he had before his eyes the loss of all the gingerbread in his pockets. A more ludicrous sight could hardly be imagined, to see the poor penniless Yankee holding on to his apples for dear life, while the very act of raising his hands to save them, imperiled his own existence. Such a fellow was not born to be drowned and was drawn aboard the boat, with both apples saved.—Racine Advocate.

MAINE ELECTION.—We have a brief despatch from Maine this morning—just enough to show that the Nebraska confusion has wrought its legitimate results there as elsewhere. We would not stand in the shoes of those who have betrayed the democratic party and broken its ascendancy, for all the honors that a dozen presidents could confer.—Chicago Press, (denied).

JANESVILLE : : : WISCONSIN.
TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 19, 1884.

FOR CONGRESS—SECOND DISTRICT. C. C. WASHBURN.

ROCK COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The electors of Rock county who are determined to support no man for office who is not positively and fully committed to the support of the principles announced in the "Republican Platform" adopted at Madison on the 13th of July last, and whose personal character, political associations and private conduct, do not afford a guarantee that he is reliable, are invited to meet in their respective townships or wards at the place of holding the last township ward election, on Tuesday, 10th day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of effecting a thorough organization of the Republican party in their towns or wards, and of appointing delegates to a county convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY, the 12th day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. M., to nominate a county ticket.

The towns and wards will be entitled to representation in the county convention as follows:—to wit:

County Committee.

17th SENATORIAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

At the same time and place above designated in the respective towns and wards for meetings, to choose delegates to the county convention, the Republican electors of the wards of the city of Janesville, and of the towns in this county comprised in the 17th senatorial district, are requested to select an equal number of delegates to which they are entitled under the above appointment in the county convention, to represent them in a senatorial convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY the 12th day of October next at 11 o'clock, A. M., to nominate a candidate for senator.

By order of the County Committee.

For telegraphic news see third page.

More Harmony.—The loco focus of Mr. Washburne's district, Illinois, met in convention at Rockford, last Wednesday, to nominate a candidate for congress. After getting together, they done more than the bills promised or the party called for, as they nominated two candidates, Wm. M. Jackson, a former government officer in Chicago, on a Nebraska platform, and E. P. Perry of Lake county, on an anti-Nebraska foundation. The office holders in the convention stole a march in the organization, and the chairman declared Nebraska resolutions carried, whereupon the Lake, Boone and Winnebago delegates withdrew, and went it on their own hook. The times are getting really interesting.

One of the results of the Maine election is the defeat of Mr. Farley, a whig member of congress, who voted against the Nebraska bill, but refused to abandon the whig organization and accept a nomination as a republican. His republican opponent, Mr. Knowlton, was elected.

The know-nothings have elected representatives in several counties, and are reported to have voted generally for Morrill for governor, and anti-Nebraska members of congress.

The Daley Trouve.—Most of our citizens will remember the entertainment given by this troupe some two years or so ago. They visit the city again this week, and give another exhibition, having substituted for the vulgarity and buffoonery of "Jonny Booker," the performance of some light farce calculated to give variety and interest to their performance. See the advertisement.

Joseph R. Chandler has been nominated as an independent whig candidate for congress in the 2d district in Pennsylvania. Mr. Chandler is now a member of the house of representatives, but recently connected himself with the Roman Catholic church, and thus became obnoxious to the know nothing organization. It is said that the whole strength of this organization will now be thrown against him.

How HE DID IT.—Our readers will recollect the paragraph from the Albany Journal giving an account of a boy while on trial for stealing counterfeiting an attack of cholera, and thus procuring his discharge. The Register gives his mode of operation. To produce coldness and numbness in his arms, the little villain thumped his elbows against the walls of his room in the jail, and deadly sickness was caused swallowing tobacco juice freely! Thus, with his counterfeit spasm, well got up groans and a liberal rolling of the eyes, he cheated all hands into the belief that he was a gono case of cholera.

Attention is directed to the statement of the affairs and condition of the Home Insurance company, in another column. It is a favorable exhibit and tells well for the responsibility of the company.

Scarcity of Potatoes.—The Newark Daily Advertiser states that there are dealers purchasing potatoes in the back country from the farmers at ten shillings per bushel, and allowing them to remain in the cellars of the farmers—bringing them there for retail as they are wanted. So high is the price of potatoes, (from $3 to $4 per bushel) and the prospect of a heavy crop so poor, that (the Advertiser adds) the anticipated profits warrant such operations.

Merchandise for Janesville.—By the steamer Cleveland at Milwaukee, 10th, to R. J. Richardson, Eastmont & Bro., V. Jouanneau; by propeller Baltic, to R. J. Richardson.

To THE EDITORS OF THE GAZETTE:—In your account of the proceedings of the Mineral Point democratic congressional convention, credited to the Madison Argus, my name is found in favor of laying the resolution of Mr. Woodie, repudiating the administration of Franklin Pierce, &c., upon the table.

The fact is, that I voted against laying the resolution on the table.

The name of Mr. Woodie does not appear on this. He voted against the motion.

The name of Mr. Stevens, of Green county, is given, also, as in favor of the motion, and that of Mr. Wriesburg, of Green county, against the motion. These gentlemen had left the convention before the resolution was offered.

Yours, &c.,
J. J. R. PEASE.

Since publishing the report in question, we learn there are several other inaccuracies than those corrected by Mr. Pease. The errors, however, are not ours, as we copied from the record correctly. The official report seems to have been very carelessly or ignorantly made up, and when we find an authentic corrected statement we will publish it. On the passage of the resolutions of the convention, (the platform,) the vote of the delegation from this county should have been, Messrs. Gardner, Worden, Jordan, in the affirmative, and Messrs. Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong and Woodie in the negative.

We give the full vote as furnished by one of the delegates from this city, according to his recollection of it:

Ayes—Billings, Boyden, Lean, N. Dewey, W. P. Dowsy, Worden, Allen (3), Rodolph, Ladue, Kyle, Rose, Parkinson, Penn, Fairchild, Sweet, Braxley (2), Gardner, Jordan, Bugh, Brown, McLaughlin (2), Telfair—25.

Noes—Clinton, Zollinger, Rountree, Penn, Ogden, Beardsley, Firman, Stevens (2), Wriesburg, Tompson, Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong, Woodie, Eddy—18.

Faze Lecture.—Dr. S. C. Pratt gives a free lecture this evening at Apollo Hall upon the anatomy, physiology and diseases of the human eye. The subject may be made interesting to all, and useful to those whose sight has from any cause been impaired, besides affording the opportunity to judge in some degree the ability of Dr. P. to treat the diseases to which that part of the human organization is liable.

The Jeffersonian, published in Jefferson county, repudiates Mr. Hood as judge of the 9th circuit. It had previously declared in his favor, but on seeing the charges made against him by the Madison Argus, sustained by extracts from the records of courts in Ohio, and affidavits of responsible men, withdrew from his support.

The Michigan democratic state convention nominated John Barry for governor, W. A. Richmond, lieutenant governor, W. L. Bancroft secretary of state.

The republican convention for the northern district of this state was held in Fond du Lac, last Saturday.

John F. Brady, a well known lawyer in New York city, was recently assaulted by some rowdies in the 6th ward, and so severely bruised that he died.

Iowa Legislature.—We had by Saturday's mail several of the Dubuque papers, each classifying the members elect to the Iowa legislature. All agree in representing the house to consist of 40 anti-Nebraska and 30 Nebraska members, but disagree as to the senate, each side claiming a majority of one. Probably the question will not be decided until the meeting of the two bodies, when the voting will afford the best solution.

The Greytown Affair.—The National Intelligencer says—"We are more pained than surprised at the strong language of censure employed by the European press and the universal condemnation evinced by the European public towards the bombardment and burning of Greytown. The public disapproval of that unfortunate act was almost as general in our own country as it is in Europe, and we should do injustice to the American government if we doubted that it as sincerely regrets the occurrence as do any of our citizens."

The Mast.—It is an extraordinary fact, that though the dry character of the season has cut off the late crops, there is a most astonishing mast. The oak trees are loaded with acorns, and some of them we are told will yield ten bushels. These acorns, we are informed by those who ought to know, that, for the purpose of fattening hogs they are nearly equal to corn; particularly in this case with the acorns from the white oak. Where our farmers live in the neighborhood of forests they will be able to make nearly their usual quantity of pork, especially if they have sufficient corn to feed their hogs a few weeks.

Mast feed pork is not, however, in as high esteem as that which is corn fed; but a good deal of the former will be brought to market the coming fall.—Springfield Journal.

Hotel.—Another new hotel, to be called the "La Flamboise House," is soon to be built at Chicago, at a cost of $50,000. It will be 7 stories high, and will contain 1000 sleeping apartments. The base and the first story are to be of beautiful white stone from Athens, and the upper stories will be faced with Milwaukee brick, or covered with mastic. The second story will be furnished with bath rooms, for the accommodation of the guests.

Douglas at Chicago.—The St. Louis Intelligencer gives Mr. Douglas cold comfort for his reception at Chicago. It says:—
On the whole, we are not disposed to blame Chicago for her conduct at this meeting.—Douglas has betrayed her; he came to ask her how she liked it. She has given him his answer loud enough. She did not whisper it, lest persons at a distance, seeing the confident air with which he approached her to put his question, and which he maintained to the last, should believe those who would represent it other than it was. Not to let Mr. Douglas speak on that occasion was a mercy. He did not want to speak. Every one knows that Mr. Douglas had nothing to say to Chicago, but what he had said before, and what she was not pleased to hear.

In the little town of Marienburg lived a Lutheran minister by the name of Skovronski, who was remarkable for his piety, benevolence, and unwearying efforts in doing good. On returning to his humble dwelling one evening, his attention was attracted by the cries of a child. His horse showed an unwillingness to proceed; he dismounted, and at a short distance on the snow he discovered the object of distress. There lay a half-frozen child. Wrapping it in his cloak, he remounted his horse, and in a short time was at the parsonage.

That child was a beautiful little girl, not a year old. It was at once adopted by the pastor and placed in the care of his faithful servant, an old lady, who had long resided in the family. She was named Catherine, from the circumstance that she was found on St. Catherine's day, the twenty-fifth of November. She was nursed with great care and tenderness, and treated by the family as an only child. Her beauty, docility and sweet temper attracted the attention of all who saw her. A more lovely little creature could hardly be imagined.

As she grew up she interested herself in the management of the household affairs, and was always ready to assist on occasion required. The venerable Skovronski was growing old, and under his excessive labors for the good of his flock, his naturally robust constitution was evidently giving way. This deeply affected Catherine, for she loved the good old man as her best earthly friend. She respected him as a parent; for she could never forget that it was he who saved her life. When he became ill, she would do all for him in her power, and often cheered his lonely hours by singing some beautiful hymns. She would often say, "my dear father, what can I do for you? Can I not render you some assistance?" Can I do too much for one who saved my life?

On the twentieth of August, 1702, Marienburg was taken by the Russians, and many of its inhabitants slain. It was a sad day. Many heart-rending scenes were witnessed. Catherine at this time was thirteen years of age, and at the time of the battle was visiting the sister of Skovronski, a few miles distant. She heard the cannon, but did not understand the cause. This part of our story must be described by another. Though a slight thread of fiction may be seen in the description, it will give a life like air to the facts presented.

A horse suddenly stopped at the door of the cottage, and a young man hastily dismounted. "The Russians are at Marienburg!" exclaimed he, rushing into the apartment. "I have escaped with difficulty to bring this letter from your brother, (addressing the pastor's sister) who has given his horse for my use."

"Do tell me what has occurred at Marienburg," said Catherine.

"Why, do you not hear the cannon? General Scheremetof with the army is bombarding Marienburg. O, it is a cruel sight to behold."

"My father, my benefactor!" cried Catherine, sobbing.

Such was her anxiety to see her best earthly friend that she immediately started for Marienburg; but on reaching the town she was met by one of the guard, with "where are you going?"

"What is that to you?" replied the young girl. "I am in haste, and pray you let me pass."

"You, of course, are not aware, then, that the town is in the hands of the Russians," said the man.

"Well, what then," interrupted Catherine.

"That all the inhabitants are prisoners; and if you pursue your route, you will also be taken prisoner yourself."

"Thank you for your advice; but my father and benefactor is in town, and I am determined to share his fate whatever it may be."

"Go, then, and God preserve you!" answered the man.

She had not proceeded far before an officer demanded her name.

"Catherine," she quickly replied; "I am the adopted child of the pastor Skovronski."

"Thou art a Livonian," replied the officer.—"Livonia belongs now to our Czar, Peter I. of Russia; you are, therefore, a prisoner."

"Touch me not," said Catherine, her beautiful dark eye flashing. "I returned to Marienburg to find my adopted father. Conduct me, then, to him—in his house—in a dungeon—no matter where—so that I may find him."

As the officer did not seem disposed to consent to her request, she inquired, "Who is your general?"

"General Scheremetof," was the reply.

"I wish then to speak to the general."

In a few moments, as the Cossack officer was inquiring where the general could be found, an old woman perceiving her, uttered a cry of despair.

"O, my dear child, you will see your protector no more! He died on the battle-field by a Russian bullet, while in the act of binding up the wounds of a poor soldier. He is dead—my poor master!" This old lady was the servant of Skovronski.

Catherine turned pale at this sad intelligence, and inquired, "Have you, then, left him there without help?"

The officer bade her follow him, and he soon introduced her into the general's tent. She threw herself at Scheremetof's feet, and with uplifted hands exclaimed, "A grace, general! for pity's sake, a grace!"

"What does the child want?" inquired the general of the officer.

"She wishes to speak to you."

"It is true," replied Catherine. "I have learned that my father and protector is among the dead. Dear pastor Skovronski! The favor I ask of you is, to be allowed to seek for his body, that it may be properly buried."

The tone of her voice was so peculiar, and her countenance so commanding, yet so ingenuous, that the general was moved at the sight of her youth and courage, and said, "The camp is situated outside of the walls; if I grant your request, what guarantee shall I have that you will not try to escape?"

"My word!" replied Catherine, innocently.

"Go then," said the general; "but remember your promise to return, for you belong to me."

On leaving the tent she soon met the pastor's old servant. "Come," said she, taking her hand, "show me the place where you saw him fall."

The night was dark, and it was with difficulty they could see their way. They soon came upon a field covered with the bodies of the slain, while the cries that arose, told that many were still alive. It was, indeed, a scene of horror. It was dark, and how could she distinguish her benefactor? Soon a soldier appeared with a lantern, which he kindly offered her, but advising her to discontinue her search till morning. This she at once declined.

"But," said the brave soldier, "you are not formed to be a slave, though a general may be your master. You are now beyond the camp; no person can see you. Fly! If you want money, here it is."

"Fly! when I have given my word not to do so."

The word of a girl without a name, without birth, is of little consequence. I conjure you to fly."

Catherine remained unmoved, and resolved to fulfill her promise. "The search for the pastor was continued, and in a few moments he was found, nearly senseless and quite speechless. After several attempts he faintly whispered, "Where am I?"

"With your friends," replied Catherine—"with your little Catherine."

A little cordial being administered, he revived, and was soon carried home on a litter. His wounds were dressed, and all possible assistance rendered to the wounded pastor. Catherine was overjoyed to see her dear friend so comfortable.

The old man had learned that his dear child was a prisoner, and this grieved him much.

"It is all right," said Catherine. "If I had not been taken a prisoner, I should not have been carried before the general, and would have missed seeing your servant, who told me of your death; and, had I not seen her, I should never have thought of seeking for you on the battle-field."

"Now," said Catherine, "my dear benefactor bless me, your poor child, for I must leave you."

"Go, my child, go," said the old man in a solemn voice; "do your duty, and God will bless you."

Catherine kissed the lips of the old man, and exclaimed, "Adieu, my father! adieu!" and left the house.

As she entered the tent of the general, she met the young soldier who presented her with the lantern in the battle-field, and who now kindly presented her to the general.

"What! have you returned," said the general on seeing her. "I feared that I should not see you again."

"I gave you my word," was her brief reply.

"What shall I do with her?" inquired the General, addressing himself to the soldier.

"Make her my wife—the wife of a soldier!"—She is born for it! Well, what say you, my child?" added he, turning to Catherine, who seemed quite bewildered.

"I say," replied she, hesitating, "my choice is not difficult; I would rather be the wife of a soldier than the slave of a general."

"Bravest Catherine! from this moment you belong to me."

The soldier arose, and beckoning to Catherine to follow him, he left the tent. "Do you know who I am, Catherine?" said he, as they walked away together.

"No; but do you said that you wished to be my husband?"

"True; but do you know my rank in the army?"

"It matters not," said Catherine; "you cannot suppose I am proud—a child without family, without name."

"You are content, then, to link your destiny with mine," taking her by the hand.

"Yes," replied Catherine, "I like you because you have been kind to me, poor child that I am."

The soldier stopped before a tent more elevated than the rest. "This is the tent of the Czar," said he; "remain where you are. It is right that I should ask your permission to marry you."

Catherine waited but a few minutes, when a young officer, advancing, said, "the Czar wishes to see you."

On entering the tent, she saw a large number of officers, in the center of whom she immediately recognized the young soldier, her companion. "Where is the Czar?" inquired Catherine of the officer.

"There!" said he, pointing to the soldier who was seated.

"There? that is my husband?"

"He is thy husband and the Czar likewise," Catherine, said the emperor of Russia. "How astonished you appear! Does the news grieve you? Does my title prevent you from loving me?"

"I love you as a soldier," said she; "I will also love you as an emperor." The Czar arose, and taking the hand of the young orphan, presented her to his officers as the future empress of Russia.

Here closes the thread of fiction in our story. After their marriage, the emperor placed her in a private dwelling in the city of Moscow, where she received every attention becoming her position. She was lovely and beautiful.—She loved to do good and make others happy around her. She was intelligent, cheerful, amiable, and benevolent. "No doubt Peter the Great saw that she was precisely the woman who could share his enthusiasm and sympathize in his plans. The obscurity of her birth was no obstacle to him; he had absolute power to raise her to the loftiest condition in his empire."

Though surrounded with the honors of royalty, she did not forget the pastor of Marienburg. She loved him still, and did what she could to cheer his last hours. He never recovered from his wounds, and survived but a short time. His end was peace. Catherine mourned over his departure, and sighed that one she had loved most of all on earth was now no more.

She often accompanied the emperor in his journeys through his empire, and frequently attended him in military campaigns. In 1714, when Peter was at war with the Turks, by her extraordinary skill and superior judgment, she saved the life of the emperor, and saved the army from being destroyed or taken prisoners. Peter caused the event to be commemorated by a display of magnificence unusual for him; and in the declaration he issued we find these words: "She has been of the greatest assistance to us in all our dangers, and particularly in the battle of Pruthi."

She was blessed with two children, one of which—a son—died when a child. The other—a daughter—became empress of Russia.

On the eighteenth of May, 1723, Peter the Great placed the crown, with great pomp, upon the head of Catherine. His health was now rapidly declining. Catherine attended him constantly. January 23, 1725, he breathed his last, being only in his forty-fourth year.

Catherine sustained the title of empress with great dignity, and was greatly beloved by her subjects. Her reign was short. She survived her husband about two years, and expired May 27, 1727, at the age of thirty-eight.

AWFUL ACCIDENT!—A green chair recently from Boston, in jumping from the pier on to the steamer Arctic, as she was leaving the dock, did not jump far enough and landed safely in the water. He had just been ashore and bought his pockets full of gingerbread, and his hands full of apples. As he went down beautifully into the cold drink, he held up his two hands, each containing an apple. These he was determined not to lose or get them wet if he could help it, as he had before his eyes the loss of all the gingerbread in his pockets. A more ludicrous sight could hardly be imagined, to see the poor penniless Yankee holding on to his apples for dear life, while the very act of raising his hands to save them, imperiled his own existence. Such a fellow was not born to be drowned and was drawn aboard the boat, with both apples saved.—Racine Advocate.

MAINE ELECTION.—We have a brief despatch from Maine this morning—just enough to show that the Nebraska confusion has wrought its legitimate results there as elsewhere. We would not stand in the shoes of those who have betrayed the democratic party and broken its ascendancy, for all the honors that a dozen presidents could confer.—Chicago Press, (den.)

17th SENATORIAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

At the same time and place above designated in the respective towns and wards for meetings, to choose delegates to the county convention, the Republican electors of the wards of the city of Janesville, and of the towns in this county comprised in the 17th senatorial district, are requested to select an equal number of delegates to which they are entitled under the above appointment in the county convention, to represent them in a senatorial convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY the 12th day of October next at 11 o'clock, A. M., to nominate a candidate for senator.

By order of the County Committee.

For telegraphic news see third page.

MORE HARMONY.—The loco focus of Mr. Washburne's district, Illinois, met in convention at Rockford, last Wednesday, to nominate a candidate for congress. After getting together, they done more than the bills promised or the party called for, as they nominated two candidates, Wm. M. Jackson, a former government officer in Chicago, on a Nebraska platform, and E. P. Perry of Lake county, on an anti-Nebraska foundation. The office holders in the convention stole a march in the organization, and the chairman declared Nebraska resolutions carried, whereupon the Lake, Boone and Winnebago delegates withdrew, and went it on their own hook. The times are getting really interesting.

One of the results of the Maine election is the defeat of Mr. Farley, a whig member of congress, who voted against the Nebraska bill, but refused to abandon the whig organization and accept a nomination as a republican. His republican opponent, Mr. Knowlton, was elected.

The know-nothings have elected representatives in several counties, and are reported to have voted generally for Morrill for governor, and anti-Nebraska members of congress.

THE DALEY TROUPE.—Most of our citizens will remember the entertainment given by this troupe some two years or so ago. They visit the city again this week, and give another exhibition, having substituted for the vulgarity and buffoonery of "Jonny Booker," the performance of some light farce calculated to give variety and interest to their performance. See the advertisement.

Joseph R. Chandler has been nominated as an independent whig candidate for congress in the 2d district in Pennsylvania. Mr. Chandler is now a member of the house of representatives, but recently connected himself with the Roman Catholic church, and thus became obnoxious to the know nothing organization.—It is said that the whole strength of this organization will now be thrown against him.

How HE DID IT.—Our readers will recollect the paragraph from the Albany Journal giving an account of a boy while on trial for stealing counterfeiting an attack of cholera, and thus procuring his discharge. The Register gives his mode of operation. To produce colds and numbness in his arms, the little villain thumped his elbows against the walls of his room in the jail, and deadly sickness was caused swallowing tobacco juice freely! Thus, with his counterfeit spasm, well got up groans and a liberal rolling of the eyes, he cheated all hands into the belief that he was a gono case of cholera.

Attention is directed to a statement of the affairs and condition of the Home Insurance company, in another column. It is a favorable exhibit and tells well for the responsibility of the company.

SCARCITY OF POTATOES.—The Newark Daily Advertiser states that there are dealers purchasing potatoes in the back country from the farmers at ten shillings per bushel, and allowing them to remain in the cellars of the farmers—bringing them there for retail as they are wanted. So high is the price of potatoes, (from $3 to $4 per bushel) and the prospect of a heavy crop so poor, that (the Advertiser adds) the anticipated profits warrant such operations.

MERCHANDISE FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Cleveland at Milwaukee, 10th, to R. J. Richardson, Eastmont & Bro., V. Jouanneau; by propeller Baltic, to R. J. Richardson.

To THE EDITORS OF THE GAZETTE:—In your account of the proceedings of the Mineral Point democratic congressional convention, credited to the Madison Argus, my name is found in favor of laying the resolution of Mr. Woodie, repudiating the administration of Franklin Pierce, &c., upon the table.

The fact is, that I voted against laying the resolution on the table.

The name of Mr. Woodie does not appear on this. He voted against the motion.

The name of Mr. Stevens, of Green county, is given, also, as in favor of the motion, and that of Mr. Wriesburg, of Green county, against the motion. These gentlemen had left the convention before the resolution was offered.

Yours, &c.,
J. J. R. PEASE.

Since publishing the report in question, we learn there are several other inaccuracies than those corrected by Mr. Pease. The errors, however, are not ours, as we copied from the record correctly. The official report seems to have been very carelessly or ignorantly made up, and when we find an authentic corrected statement we will publish it. On the passage of the resolutions of the convention, (the platform,) the vote of the delegation from this county should have been, Messrs. Gardner, Worden, Jordan, in the affirmative, and Messrs. Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong and Woodie in the negative.

We give the full vote as furnished by one of the delegates from this city, according to his recollection of it:

Ayes—Billings, Boyden, Lean, N. Dewey, W. P. Dowey, Worden, Allen (3), Rodolph, Ladue, Kyle, Rose, Parkinson, Penn, Fairchild, Sweet, Braxley (2), Gardner, Jordan, Bugh, Brown, McLaughlin (2), Telfair—25.

Noes—Clinton, Zollinger, Rountree, Penn, Ogden, Beardsley, Firman, Stevens (2), Wriesburg, Tompson, Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong, Woodie, Eddy—18.

FAZE LECTURE.—Dr. S. C. Pratt gives a free lecture this evening at Apollo Hall upon the anatomy, physiology and diseases of the human eye. The subject may be made interesting to all, and useful to those whose sight has from any cause been impaired, besides affording the opportunity to judge in some degree the ability of Dr. P. to treat the diseases to which that part of the human organization is liable.

The Jeffersonian, published in Jefferson county, repudiates Mr. Hood as judge of the 9th circuit. It had previously declared in his favor, but on seeing the charges made against him by the Madison Argus, sustained by extracts from the records of courts in Ohio, and affidavits of responsible men, withdrew from his support.

The Michigan democratic state convention nominated John Barry for governor, W. A. Richmond, lieutenant governor, W. L. Bancroft secretary of state.

The republican convention for the northern district of this state was held in Fond du Lac, last Saturday.

John F. Brady, a well known lawyer in New York city, was recently assaulted by some rowdies in the 6th ward, and so severely bruised that he died.

IOWA LEGISLATURE.—We had by Saturday's mail several of the Dubuque papers, each classifying the members elect to the Iowa legislature. All agree in representing the house to consist of 40 anti-Nebraska and 30 Nebraska members, but disagree as to the senate, each side claiming a majority of one. Probably the question will not be decided until the meeting of the two bodies, when the voting will afford the best solution.

THE GREY TOWN AFFAIR.—The National Intelligencer says—"We are more pained than surprised at the strong language of censure employed by the European press and the universal condemnation evinced by the European public towards the bombardment and burning of Greytown. The public disapproval of that unfortunate act was almost as general in our own country as it is in Europe, and we should do injustice to the American government if we doubted that it as sincerely regrets the occurrence as do any of our citizens."

THE MIST.—It is an extraordinary fact, that though the dry character of the season has cut off the late crops, there is a most astonishing mast. The oak trees are loaded with acorns, and some of them we are told will yield ten bushels. These acorns, we are informed by those who ought to know, that, for the purpose of fattening hogs they are nearly equal to corn; particularly in this case with the acorns from the white oak. Where our farmers live in the neighborhood of forests they will be able to make nearly their usual quantity of pork, especially if they have sufficient corn to feed their hogs a few weeks.

Most feed pork is not, however, in as high esteem as that which is corn fed; but a good deal of the former will be brought to market the coming fall.—Springfield Journal.

HOTEL.—Another new hotel, to be called the "La Flamboise House," is soon to be built at Chicago, at a cost of $50,000. It will be 7 stories high, and will contain 1000 sleeping apartments. The base and the first story are to be of beautiful white stone from Athens, and the upper stories will be faced with Milwaukee brick, or covered with mastic. The second story will be furnished with bath rooms, for the accommodation of the guests.

DOUGLAS AT CHICAGO.—The St. Louis Intelligencer gives Mr. Douglas cold comfort for his reception at Chicago. It says:

On the whole, we are not disposed to blame Chicago for her conduct at this meeting.—Douglas has betrayed her; he came to ask her how she liked it. She has given him his answer loud enough. She did not whisper it, lest persons at a distance, seeing the confident air with which he approached her to put his question, and which he maintained to the last, should believe those who would represent it other than it was. Not to let Mr. Douglas speak on that occasion was a mercy. He did not want to speak. Every one knows that Mr. Douglas had nothing to say to Chicago, but what he had said before, and what she was not pleased to hear.

One Price Cash Store!
COOLEY & BARCOCK,
WEST SIDE THE RIVER, JANESVILLE.
ARE Gratified to announce to the Trading Public that they have made extensive alterations and improvements in their Establishment, and are prepared to exhibit, with great satisfaction, to customers, and sell at PRICES UNEQUALLED IN WISCONSIN for Cheapness and Perfect Uniformity,
A Stock of Goods undoubtedly surpassing in Variety, Extent, and Real Value, any other in Janesville; containing
Staple & Fancy DRY GOODS
CLOTHS of all qualities, some of superior fabric, probably any one in this town, including CLOTHING, HATS, TRIMMINGS, DRESS GOODS and Dress Trimmings, EMPHOIRIES in great variety & of rich patterns, PAIRANTS, Glimpse Laces, DIAPHRAGM, Ribbons, and Dotted Mullins, GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c., much below the usual asking or selling prices.
In this department they possess unusual facilities, being importers of Common, Printed and Ironstone Liverpool Wares, and are now receiving in Store, and design to maintain, a Stock capable of fully supplying this Market.
Their Wares will be warranted
UNIFORM AND THE BEST MANUFACTURE, and not Mixed Crockery of all makes, re-packed in this country—the usual assortment of these not exclusively in that trade. Their best WHITE CRYSTAL IRONSTONE is universally admitted by Importers as entirely superior to all other makes in durability, enamel and body of shape, which, however, they will sell at less prices than inferior wares can be afforded in this State.
GLASS WARE in endless variety purchased directly from factories, FRENCH and ENGLISH PORCELAIN, VASES, Gilded and Decorated Coffee Cups.
SOLAR LAMPS, CAMPBELL and FLUID Lamps. PAPER HANGINGS, Please Examine them. WINDOW BLINDS, New Design very cheap. Patent and Brass Curtain Trimmings, &c.
The Subscribers have also just arranged a SPACIOUS Ballroom on the 2d Floor in which they are now receiving incomparably the largest assortment of ever seen in Central Wisconsin. Please look at them. Also, OIL CLOTHS, from 8 to 8 quaters inclusive. MATTINGS—Main and Checked, Druggists.
LOOKING GLASSES of every size and style, in the latest and most fashionable price and reduction. Looking Glass Plates. Gilt Mouldings for Picture Frames, Gilt Cornices and Curtain Lamps, Iron Hat Stands, &c.
They also keep for sale at lowest Cash prices a full assortment of GROCERIES, LEATHER AND FINDINGS, SADDLERY AND SADDLES, Shelf Hardware, Tin Ware, Willow Ware, Stone Ware, Hayting Tools, Farming Tools, &c., &c.
The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation for more valuable than the Superstition Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shopkeepers deem indispensable to success.
The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of invertebrate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen who sell what they can if possible, are rogues.
Respectfully,
COOLEY & BARCOCK.

This collection is now, as usual, the favorite place of resort for the Fashionable, the Cutting Department will be under my own personal supervision, and warranted to suit the most difficult, twenty per cent lower than any other establishment in the State.
No Fit No Sale, is my doctrine.
You will ask how I can do this; I will tell you: From my long experience in this business, and being a good Tailor, I know when, where and how to buy my Goods, what to pay for them, and how to cut them, not having to secure the services of an eminent artist, at a salary of $1,000 to $1,500 a year, which the purchaser must pay, and which is the secret. I have got on hand a good assortment of Ready Made Clothing, of my own manufacture, and warranted in every respect to suit the taste, and before you buy elsewhere, EXAMINE THIS.

Special attention will be given to the ACCOMMODATION OF LADIES.
JANESVILLE, June 21, 1854. T. B. WOOLLISCROFT.

GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.
In this line I know beyond a doubt, that I can show you a finer assortment of Goods, than any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE MY WHOLESTUDY, and that I buy More, Sell Cheaper, and have more of the best made, than any whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.
Manufacturing.
I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than any shop about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern manufacture, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather, and that is a better reason and of greater importance, I can.
Sell my Custom Work at Much Lower Prices, and at the same time a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices than at the same time make my profits.
I want to state here, that I have secured the services of Mr. BECKENHOLM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, better made, and of style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.

TO THE LADIES,
I would say that I am under very great obligations for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of Silk Stockings, which I will send up by mail, selling cheap. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates.
Yours respectfully,
J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor.
By the way, don't forget the location of this Institution, three doors above the Post Office, Janesville, Wisconsin.

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation for more valuable than the Superstition Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shopkeepers deem indispensable to success.
The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of invertebrate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen who sell what they can if possible, are rogues.
Respectfully,
COOLEY & BARCOCK.

GREAT SALE OF REAL ESTATE!
Rare Chance for Investment!
600 Village Lots!
THE undersigned offers at private sale SIX HUNDRED VILLAGE LOTS, situated in Hickory Glen and Linsley & Shaw's addition (in Janesville) located in the immediate vicinity of the Milwaukee and Mississippi railroad depot, in the city of Janesville.
The above property is but a short distance from the present business center of the thriving city of Janesville, and will through the influence of the various railroads, in operation and projected, the business of the city is fast finding its way.
It is unnecessary to speak of the peculiar advantages of an investment in a property so centrally located in the most rapidly growing city in the State of Wisconsin—a city so widely known for its thrift and business prosperity, possessing extensive water-power and surrounded by the best farming country in the world—as every one at all conversant with the progress of western cities will see at once the advantages.
The above property is offered at very low rates, and on the most favorable terms, particularly to those who wish to make immediate improvements on purchases.
Also, 1,000 Acres of the Best Improved Farming Lands, situated within a few miles of the city, which will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, from 40 to 320 acres.
For particulars, call on the undersigned at a Private Sale, Kimball's Hardware Store, or at THOMAS SHAW.
JANESVILLE July 10, 1854. D. F. PIXLEY. 44

GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.
In this line I know beyond a doubt, that I can show you a finer assortment of Goods, than any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE MY WHOLESTUDY, and that I buy More, Sell Cheaper, and have more of the best made, than any whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.
Manufacturing.
I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than any shop about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern manufacture, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather, and that is a better reason and of greater importance, I can.
Sell my Custom Work at Much Lower Prices, and at the same time a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which is that all my work is a very palpable one, in that in buying my stock and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices than at the same time make my profits.
I want to state here, that I have secured the services of Mr. BECKENHOLM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, better made, and of style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.

TO THE LADIES,
I would say that I am under very great obligations for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of Silk Stockings, which I will send up my mail, selling cheap. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates.
Yours respectfully,
J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor.
By the way, don't forget the location of this Institution, three doors above the Post Office, Janesville, Wisconsin.
JANESVILLE June 12, 18

In the little town of Marienburg lived a Lutheran minister by the name of Skovronski, who was remarkable for his piety, benevolence, and unwearying efforts in doing good. On returning to his humble dwelling one evening, his attention was attracted by the cries of a child. His horse showed an unwillingness to proceed; he dismounted, and at a short distance on the snow he discovered the object of distress. There lay a half-frozen child. Wrapping it in his cloak, he remounted his horse, and in a short time was at the parsonage.

That child was a beautiful little girl, not a year old. It was at once adopted by the pastor and placed in the care of his faithful servant, an old lady, who had long resided in the family. She was named Catherine, from the circumstance that she was found on St. Catherine's day, the twenty-fifth of November. She was nursed with great care and tenderness, and treated by the family as an only child. Her beauty, docility and sweet temper attracted the attention of all who saw her. A more lovely little creature could hardly be imagined.

As she grew up she interested herself in the management of the household affairs, and was always ready to assist as occasion required. The venerable Skovronski was growing old, and, under his excessive labors for the good of his flock, his naturally robust constitution was evidently giving way. This deeply affected Catherine, for she loved the good old man as her best earthly friend. She respected him as a parent; for she could never forget that it was he who saved her life. When he became ill, she would do all for him in her power, and often cheered his lonely hours by singing some beautiful hymns. She would often say, "my dear father, what can I do for you? Can I not render you some assistance? Can I do too much for one who saved my life?"

On the twentieth of August, 1702, Marienburg was taken by the Russians, and many of its inhabitants slain. It was a sad day. Many heart-rending scenes were witnessed. Catherine at this time was thirteen years of age, and at the time of the battle was visiting the sister of Skovronski, a few miles distant. She heard the cannon, but did not understand the cause. This part of our story must be described by another. Though a slight thread of fiction may be seen in the description, it will give a life-like air to the facts presented.

A horse suddenly stopped at the door of the cottage, and a young man hastily dismounted. "The Russians are at Marienburg!" exclaimed he, rushing into the apartment. "I have escaped with difficulty to bring this letter from your brother, (addressing the pastor's sister) who has given his horse for my use."

"Do tell me what has occurred at Marienburg," said Catherine.

"Why, do you not hear the cannon? General Scheremetef with the army is bombarding Marienburg. O, it is a cruel sight to behold."

"My father, my benefactor!" cried Catherine, sobbing.

Such was her anxiety to see her best earthly friend that she immediately started for Marienburg; but on reaching the town she was met by one of the guard, with "where are you going?"

"What is that to you?" replied the young girl. "I am in haste, and pray you let me pass."

"You, of course, are not aware, then, that the town is in the hands of the Russians," said the man.

"Well, what then," interrupted Catherine.

"That all the inhabitants are prisoners; and if you pursue your route, you will also be taken prisoner yourself."

"Thank you for your advice; but my father and benefactor is in town, and I am determined to share his fate whatever it may be."

"Go, then, and God preserve you!" answered the man.

She had not proceeded far before an officer demanded her name.

"Catherine," she quickly replied; "I am the adopted child of the pastor Skovronski."

"Thou art a Livonian," replied the officer.—"Livonia belongs now to our Czar, Peter I. of Russia; you are, therefore, a prisoner."

"Touch me not," said Catherine, her beautiful dark eyes flashing. "I returned to Marienburg to find my adopted father. Conduct me, then, to him—in his house—in a dungeon—no matter where—so that I may find him."

As the officer did not seem disposed to consent to her request, she inquired, "Who is your general?"

"General Scheremetef," was the reply.

"I wish then to speak to the general."

In a few moments, as the Cossack officer was inquiring where the general could be found, an old woman perceiving her, uttered a cry of despair. "O, my dear child, you will see your protector no more! He died on the battle-field by a Russian bullet, while in the act of binding up the wounds of a poor soldier. He is dead—my poor master!" This old lady was the servant of Skovronski.

Catherine turned pale at this intelligence, and inquired, "Have you then, left him there without help?"

The officer bade her follow him, and he soon introduced her into the general's tent. She threw herself at Scheremetef's feet, and with her uplifted hands exclaimed, "A grace, general! for pity's sake, a grace!"

"What does the child want?" inquired the general of the officer.

"She wishes to speak to you."

"It is true," replied Catherine. "I have learned that my father and protector is among the dead. Dear pastor Skovronski! The favor I ask of you is, to be allowed to seek for his body, that it may be properly buried."

The tone of her voice was so peculiar, and her countenance so commanding, yet so ingenuous, that the general was moved at the sight of her youth and courage, and said, "The camp is situated outside of the walls; if I grant your request, what guarantee shall I have that you will not try to escape?"

"My word!" replied Catherine, innocently.

"Go then," said the general; "but remember your promise to return, for you belong to me."

On leaving the tent she soon met the pastor's old servant. "Come," said she, taking her hand, "show me the place where you saw him fall."

The night was dark, and it was with difficulty they could see their way. They soon came upon a field covered with the bodies of the slain, while the cries that arose, told that many were still alive. It was, indeed, a scene of horror. It was dark, and how could she distinguish her benefactor? Soon a soldier appeared with a lantern, which he kindly offered her, but advising her to discontinue her search till morning. This she at once declined.

"But," said the brave soldier, "you are not formed to be a slave, though a general may be your master. You are now beyond the camp; no person can see you. Fly! If you want money, here it is!"

"Fly! when I have given my word not to do so."

The word of a girl without a name, without birth, is of little consequence. I conjure you to fly!

Catherine remained unmoved, and resolved to fulfill her promise. The search for the pastor was continued, and in a few moments he was found, nearly senseless and quite speechless. After several attempts he faintly whispered, "Where am I?"

"With your friends," replied Catherine—"with your little Catherine."

A little cordial being administered, he revived, and was soon carried home on a litter. His wounds were dressed, and all possible assistance rendered to the wounded pastor. Catherine was overjoyed to see her dearest friend so comfortable.

The old man had learned that his dear child was a prisoner, and this grieved him much.

"It is all right," said Catherine. "If I had not been taken a prisoner, I should not have been carried before the general, and would have missed seeing your servant, who told me of your death; and, had I not seen her, I should never have thought of seeking for you on the battle-field."

"Now," said Catherine, "my dear benefactor bless me, you poor child, for I must leave you."

"Go, my child, go," said the old man in a solemn voice; "do your duty, and God will bless you."

Catherine kissed the lips of the old man, and exclaimed, "Adieu, my father! adieu!" and left the house.

As she entered the tent of the general, she met the young soldier who presented her with the lantern in the battle-field, and who now kindly presented her to the general.

"What! have you returned," said the general on seeing her. "I feared that I should not see you again."

"I gave you my word," was her brief reply.

"What shall I do with her?" inquired the General, addressing himself to the soldier.

"Make her my wife—the wife of a soldier!—She is born for it! Well, what say you, my child?" added he, turning to Catherine, who seemed quite bewildered.

"I say," replied she, hesitating, "my choice is not difficult; I would rather be the wife of a soldier than the slave of a general."

"Bravo! Catherine! from this moment you belong to me."

The soldier arose, and beckoning to Catherine to follow him, he left the tent. "Do you know who I am, Catherine?" said he, as they walked away together.

"No; but you said that you wished to be my husband."

"True; but do you know my rank in the army?"

"It matters not," said Catherine; "you cannot suppose I am proud—a child without family, without name."

"You are content, then, to link your destiny with mine," taking her by the hand.

"Yes," replied Catherine, "I like you because you have been kind to me, poor child that I am."

The soldier stopped before a tent more elevated than the rest. "This is the tent of the Czar," said he; "remain where you are. It is right that I should ask his permission to marry you."

Catherine waited but a few minutes, when a young officer, advancing, said, "The Czar wishes to see you."

On entering the tent, she saw a large number of officers, in the center of whom she immediately recognized the young soldier, her companion. "Where is the Czar?" inquired Catherine of the officer.

"There!" said he, pointing to the soldier who was seated.

"There? that is my husband!"

"He is thy husband and the Czar likewise," Catherine said the emperor of Russia. "How astonished you appear! Does the news grieve you? Does my title prevent you from loving me?"

"I love you as a soldier," said she; "I will also love you as an emperor." The Czar arose, and taking the hand of the young orphan, presented her to his officers as the future empress of Russia.

Here closes the thread of fiction in our story. After their marriage, the emperor placed her in a private dwelling in the city of Moscow, where she received every attention becoming her position. She was lovely and beautiful.—She loved to do good and make others happy around her. She was intelligent, cheerful, amiable, and benevolent. "No doubt Peter the Great saw that she was precisely the woman who could share his enthusiasm and sympathize in his plans. The obscurity of her birth was no obstacle to him; he had absolute power to raise her to the loftiest condition in his empire."

Though surrounded with the honors of royalty, she did not forget the pastor of Marienburg. She loved him still, and did what she could to cheer his last hours. He never recovered from his wounds, and survived but a short time. His end was peace. Catherine mourned over his departure, and sighed that one she had loved most of all on earth was now no more.

She often accompanied the emperor in his journeys through his empire, and frequently attended him in military campaigns. In 1714, when Peter was at war with the Turks, by her extraordinary skill and superior judgment, she saved the life of the emperor, and saved the army from being destroyed or taken prisoners. Peter caused the event to be commemorated by a display of magnificence unusual for him; and in the declaration he issued we find these words: "She has been of the greatest assistance to us in all our dangers, and particularly in the battle of Pruth."

She was blessed with two children, one of which—a son—died when a child. The other—a daughter—became empress of Russia.

On the eighteenth of May, 1723, Peter the Great placed the crown, with great pomp, upon the head of Catherine. His health was now rapidly declining. Catherine attended him constantly. January 28, 1725, he breathed his last, being only in his forty-fourth year.

Catherine sustained the title of empress with great dignity, and was greatly beloved by her subjects. Her reign was short. She survived her husband about two years, and expired May 27, 1727, at the age of thirty-eight.

AWFUL ACCIDENT!—A green chop recently from Boston, in jumping from the pier on to the steamer Arctic, as she was leaving the dock, did not jump far enough and landed safely in the water. He had just been ashore and bought his pockets full of gingerbread, and his hands full of apples. As he went down beautifully into the cold drink, he held up his two hands, each containing an apple. These he was determined not to lose or get them wet if he could help it, as he had before his eyes the loss of all the gingerbread in his pockets. A more ludicrous sight could hardly be imagined, to see a stout, hearty yankee holding on to his apples for dear life, while the very net of raising his hands to save them, imperiled his own salvation. Such a fellow was not born to be drowned and was drawn aboard the boat, with both apples saved.—Ruine Advocate.

MAINE ELECTION.—We have a brief despatch from Maine this morning—just enough to show that the Nebraska confusion has wrought its legitimate results there as elsewhere. We would not stand in the shoes of those who have betrayed the democratic party and broken its ascendancy, for all the honors that a dozen presidents could confer.—Chicago Press, (den.)

FOR CONGRESS—SECOND DISTRICT.
C. C. WASHBURN.
ROCK COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The electors of Rock county who are determined to support no man for office who is not positively and fully committed to the support of the principles announced in the "Republican Platform" adopted at Madison on the 15th of July last, and whose personal character, political associations and private conduct, do not afford a guarantee that he is reliable, are invited to meet in their respective townships or wards at the place of holding the last township or ward election, on Tuesday, 10th day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of effecting a thorough organization of the Republican party in their towns or wards, and of appointing delegates to a county convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY, the 12th day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. M., to nominate a county ticket.

The towns and wards will be entitled to representation in the county convention as follows:—to wit:

L. P. HANFORD, J. H. HEDD, J. H. HEDD, S. G. COLLET, G. H. WILLIAMS, A. HARRIS, PETER SCHULTZ, J. DAWSON, County Committee.

17th SENATORIAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

At the same time and place above designated in the respective towns and wards for meetings, to choose delegates to the county convention, the Republican electors of the wards of the city of Janesville, and of the towns in this county comprised in the 17th senatorial district, are requested to select an equal number of delegates to which they are entitled under the above appointment in the county convention, to represent them in a senatorial convention hereby called at the Court House in Janesville, on THURSDAY the 12th day of October next at 11 o'clock, A. M., to nominate a candidate for senator.

By order of the County Committee.

MORE HARMONY.—The loco focos of Mr. Washburn's district, Illinois, met in convention at Rockford, last Wednesday, to nominate a candidate for congress. After getting together, they done more than the bills promised or the party called for, as they nominated two candidates, Wm. M. Jackson, a former government officer in Chicago, on a Nebraska platform, and E. P. Perry of Lake county, on an anti-Nebraska foundation. The office holders in the convention stole a march in the organization, and the chairman declared Nebraska resolutions carried, whereupon the Lake, Boone and Winnebago delegates withdrew, and went on to their own hook. The times are getting really interesting.

One of the results of the Maine election is the defeat of Mr. Farley, a whig member of congress, who voted against the Nebraska bill, but refused to abandon the whig organization and accept a nomination as a republican. His republican opponent, Mr. Knowlton, was elected.

The know-nothings have elected representatives in several counties, and are reported to have voted generally for Morrill for governor, and anti-Nebraska members of congress.

THE BALEY TROUPE.—Most of our citizens will remember the entertainment given by this troupe some two years or so ago. They visit the city again this week, and give another exhibition, having substituted for the vulgarity and buffoonery of "Jonny Booker," the performance of some light farce calculated to give variety and interest to their performance. See the advertisement.

JOSEPH R. CHANDLER has been nominated as an independent whig candidate for congress in the 2d district in Pennsylvania. Mr. Chandler is now a member of the house of representatives, but recently connected himself with the Roman Catholic church, and thus became obnoxious to the know nothing organization.—It is said that the whole strength of this organization will now be thrown against him.

HOW HE DID IT.—Our readers will recollect the paragraph from the Albany Journal giving an account of a boy while on trial for stealing counterfeiting an attack of cholera, and thus procuring his discharge. The Register gives his mode of operation. To produce coldness and numbness in his arms, the little villain thumped his elbows against the walls of his room in the jail, and deadly sickness was caused swallowing tobacco juice freely! Thus, with by counterfeited spasms, well got up groans and a liberal rolling of the eyes, he cheated all hands into the belief that he was a gone case of cholera.

Attention is directed to a statement of the affairs and condition of the Home Insurance company, in another column. It is a favorable exhibit and tells well for the responsibility of the company.

SCARCITY OF POTATOES.—The Newark Daily Advertiser states that there are dealers purchasing potatoes in the back country from the farmers at ten shillings per bushel, and allowing them to remain in the cellars of the farmers—bringing them there for retail as they are wanted. So high is the price of potatoes, (from $3 to $4 per bushel) and the prospect of a heavy crop so poor, that (the Advertiser adds) the anticipated profits warrant such operations.

MERCHANDISE FOR JANESVILLE.—By the steamer Cleveland at Milwaukee, 16th, to R. J. Richardson, Eastport & Bro., V. J. J. Richardson, by propeller Baltic, to R. J. Richardson.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE GAZETTE.—In your account of the proceedings of the Mineral Point democratic congressional convention, credited to the Madison Argus, my name is found in favor of laying the resolution of Mr. Woodie, repudiating the administration of Franklin Pierce, &c., upon the table.

The fact is, that I voted against laying the resolution on the table.

The name of Mr. Woodie does not appear on this. He voted against the motion.

The name of Mr. Stevens, of Green county, is given, also, as in favor of the motion, and that of Mr. Wriesburg, of Green county, against the motion. These gentlemen had left the convention before the resolution was offered.

Yours, &c.,
J. J. R. PEASE.

Since publishing the report in question, we learn there are several other inaccuracies than those corrected by Mr. Pease. The errors, however, are not ours, as we copied from the record correctly. The official report seems to have been very carelessly or ignorantly made up, and when we find an authentic corrected statement we will publish it. On the passage of the resolutions of the convention, (the platform,) the vote of the delegation from this county should have been, Messrs. Gardner, Worden, Jordan, in the affirmative, and Messrs. Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong and Woodie in the negative.

We give the full vote as furnished by one of the delegates from this city, according to his recollection of it:

Ayes—Billings, Boyden, Lean, N. Dewey, W. P. Dewey, Worden, Allen (3), Randolph, Ladue, Kyle, Rose, Parkinson, Dean, Fairchild, Sweat, Brawley (2), Gardner, Jordan, Bugh, Brown, McLaughlin (2), Tellier—26.

Noes—Clinton, Zollinger, Rountree, Penn, Ogden, Beardsley, Firmon, Stevens (2), Wriesburg, Tompson, Pease, Neil, Smith, Armstrong, Woodie, Eddy—16.

FREE LECTURE.—Dr. S. C. Pratt gives a free lecture this evening at Apollo Hall upon the anatomy, physiology and diseases of the human eye. The subject may be made interesting to all, and useful to those whose sight has from any cause been impaired, besides affording the opportunity to judge in some degree the ability of Dr. P. to treat the diseases to which that part of the human organization is liable.

The Jeffersonian, published in Jefferson county, repudiates Mr. Hood as judge of the 9th circuit. It had previously declared in his favor, but on seeing the charges made against him by the Madison Argus, sustained by extracts from the records of courts in Ohio, and affidavits of responsible men, withdrew from his support.

The Michigan democratic state convention nominated John Barry for governor, W. A. Richmond lieutenant governor, W. L. Bancroft secretary of state.

The republican convention for the northern district of this state was held in Fond du Lac, last Saturday.

JOHN F. BRADY, a well known lawyer in New York city, was recently assaulted by some rowdies in the 6th ward, and so severely bruised that he died.

IOWA LEGISLATURE.—We had by Saturday's mail several of the Dubuque papers, each classifying the members elect to the Iowa legislature. All agree in representing the house to consist of 40 anti-Nebraska and 80 Nebraska members, but disagree as to the senate, each side claiming a majority of one. Probably the question will not be decided until the meeting of the two bodies, when the voting will afford the best solution.

THE GREYTON AFFAIR.—The National Intelligence says—"We are more pained than surprised at the strong language of censure employed by the European press and the universal condemnation evinced by the European public towards the bombardment and burning of Greytown. The public disapproval of that unfortunate act was almost as general in our own country as it is in Europe, and we should do injustice to the American government if we doubted that it as sincerely regrets the occurrence as do any of its citizens."

THE MAST.—It is an extraordinary fact, that though the dry character of the season has cut off the late crops, there is a most astonishing mast. The oak trees are loaded with acorns, and some of them we are told will yield ten bushels. These acorns, we are informed by those who ought to know, that, for the purpose of fattening hogs they are nearly equal to corn; particularly is this the case with the acorns from the white oak. Where our farmers live in the neighborhood of forests they will be able to make nearly their usual quantity of pork, especially if they have sufficient corn to feed their hogs a few weeks.

Mast fed pork is not, however, in as high esteem as that which is corn fed; but a good deal of the former will be brought to market the coming fall.—Springfield Journal.

HOTEL.—Another new hotel, to be called the "La Flamboise House," is soon to be built at Chicago, at a cost of $50,000. It will be 7 stories high, and will contain 1000 sleeping apartments. The base and the first story are to be of beautiful white stone from Athens, and the upper stories will be faced with Milwaukee brick, or covered with mastic. The second story will be furnished with bath rooms, for the accommodation of the guests.

DOUGLAS AT CHICAGO.—The St. Louis Intelligence gives Mr. Douglas cold comfort for his reception at Chicago. It says:—

On the whole, we are not disposed to blame Chicago for her conduct at this meeting.—Douglas has betrayed her; he came to ask her how she liked it. She has given him his answer loud enough. She did not whisper it, lest persons at a distance, seeing the confident air with which he approached her to put his question, and which he maintained to the last, should believe those who would represent it other than it was. Not to let Mr. Douglas speak on that occasion was a mercy. He did not want to speak. Every one knows that Mr. Douglas had nothing to say to Chicago, but what he had said before, and what she was not pleased to hear.

MUSICAL CONVENTION AND FESTIVAL.

The "Janesville Musical Society" has engaged Prof. William B. Bradbury, of New York, the distinguished composer and teacher of music, to conduct a musical convention and festival to be held in this city, commencing on Monday, the 23d of October next, at 9 o'clock A. M., continuing three days and evenings, and concluding on Wednesday evening, October 25th, with a public concert.

Its design is the advancement of singers in musical knowledge, by the study and practice of church, concert, and secular music, combined with familiar lectures and criticisms.

The principal text-books used will be "The Shawm," and "The Metropolitan Glee Book."

Members of the convention from abroad will be entertained as guests of the "Janesville Musical Society," and upon their arrival will please present themselves to either of the reception committee, viz: John R. Deale, Sam'l A. Martin, John E. Babcock.

Something New!!
MR. CHARLES AUSTIN, the celebrated Reed maker has just completed his new Organ Block, upon which, for the last five years and expended more than six thousand dollars. This reed is different from all others in its composition, being much larger and having more power. It is intended for Church and Parlor Organs, and manufactured by Messrs. Austin & Co. These Organs have an upright (Organ) action and are of the shape of all Church Organs. The price will range from $175 to $250, depending upon the finish of the work. To churches in want of an instrument of that value we would say that they have more power than any common Organ costing $500.

J. Pease & Co., Janesville Wis., are interested in the manufacture and sale of these instruments, and are the only persons through whom they can be had. They will have one or more for exhibition as early as Sept. 10, and after that a good assortment as soon as they can be manufactured.

JOHN P. PEASE & CO., Janesville, Wis.
CHAS. AUSTIN, Concord, N. H. sep2-82d

J. F. PEASE
WILL commence his next term of instruction upon the Piano Forte, and in Vocal Music on Wednesday Sept. 15th. Pupils under his tuition may be assured that no pains will be spared to secure their rapid and thorough advancement in the art.

Good boarding places will be provided for pupils from abroad. Opportunity will be given to students, for those who wish. Apply at Pease's Music Rooms.
